

UCT OPEN TEXTBOOK JOURNEYS

Bianca Masuku
Michelle Willmers
Henry Trotter
Glenda Cox

First Edition, October 2021

© Copyright The Authors

Licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International licence (<http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by/4.0/>).

Published by the Digital Open Textbooks for Development project and UCT Libraries.

This work was carried out with the aid of a grant from the International Development Research Centre, Ottawa, Canada.

Corresponding author: Dr Glenda Cox <glenda.cox@uct.ac.za>

Acknowledgements

The authors wish to thank the UCT open textbook creators featured in this work for their time in reviewing content to ensure accuracy and their collaborative spirit in the research process.

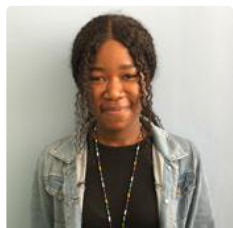

Graphic design

Marike Strydom (Jade Rose Graphic Design)
marike@jaderose.co.za

How to cite this resource:

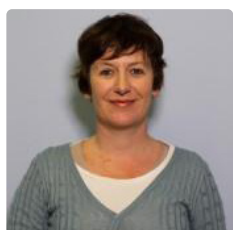

Masuku, B., Willmers, M., Trotter, H. & Cox, G. (2021). UCT Open Textbook Journeys. Cape Town: Digital Open Textbooks for Development and UCT Libraries.
DOI: 10.15641/0-7992-2551-8

ABOUT THE AUTHORS

Bianca Masuku

Bianca Masuku is a PhD candidate in Anthropology and a Junior Research Fellow in the DOT4D project. Her research background and varied research experiences fuel her more recent interests in open education, open textbooks and open scholarship with a keen interest in the inclusion and recognition of student voices.

Michelle Willmers

Michelle Willmers has a background in academic and scholarly publishing and has worked as a project manager in scholarly communication initiatives since 2008. She is currently the Publishing and Implementation Manager of the DOT4D project.

Henry Trotter

Henry Trotter researches open education issues in the Global South. He is the lead-author of Seeking Impact and Visibility: Scholarly Communication in Southern Africa and the author of two ethno-historical studies, Cape Town: A Place Between and Sugar Girls & Seamen: A Journey into the World of Dockside Prostitution in South Africa.

Dr Glenda Cox

Dr Glenda Cox is a Senior Lecturer and the Principal Investigator of the DOT4D project. With more than 10 years of experience in working on open education initiatives at UCT, she is an active member of the international open textbook and OER community.

All the authors are based in the Centre for Innovation in Learning and Teaching at UCT.

CONTENTS

Introduction	1
1: Abimbola Windapo's Open Textbook Journey	4
2: Cesarina Edmonds-Smith and Chris Barnett's Open Textbook Journey	10
3: Claire Blackman's Open Textbook Journey	17
4: James Lappeman's Open Textbook Journey	21
5: Jonathan Shock's Open Textbook Journey	28
6: Juan Klopper's Open Textbook Journey	33
7: Kensleyrao Apajee's Open Textbook Journey	37
8: Maria Keet's Open Textbook Journey	42
9: Michael Held's Open Textbook Journey	48
10: Stella Papanicolaou's Open Textbook Journey	52
11: Tim Low's Open Textbook Journey	58
Conclusion	63